HL = Hand Laid - Hand Laid panels are produced by placing pattern cut fiberglass mat and fiberglass resin into a mold. Hand Laid panels are smooth on only one side.

SMG, SMW = Smooth (gray)(white)(black)
- These Hand-Laid panels are smoothed on the inside to give a press-molded look for a more economical price. Available in several colors.

PM = Press Molded - Press Molded panels are formed under pressure in matched molds as the original parts were. Press Molded parts are smooth on both sides.

Plan Ahead

There can be a significant wait time (up to 6 months) involved in the production of some of these fiberglass panels. Please call us early in your restoration project so that we can keep both you and your body shop happy.

If you have any questions about the different types of fiberglass panels or about the production time involved, please call one of our fiberglass experts at (800) 757-5336 today!

Urethane or Truflex?

Corvettes originally had urethane bumpers installed by the factory. Urethane bumpers will flex and absorb low-speed impacts well. However, urethane bumpers provide a marginal fit and they may warp with time.

Truflex bumpers are made from fiberglass that includes a new type of resin that makes them 70% more flexible than standard fiberglass bumpers. They will provide a better fit but may be more subject to surface cracking upon low-speed impacts.
